

My name is Segunfunmi. I am passionate about protecting people and organizations from external attacks as well as ensuring equitable access to authorized information or data. I remain unbiased and maintain security and confidentiality. I have an obligation to secure private information, identify security vulnerabilities, and manage organizational risks. I find cybersecurity to be exciting because it's dynamic. There are always new puzzles to solve, and the work of protecting our users is worthwhile.